The eastern counties of England are a treasure trove of history, culture, and natural beauty. From the rolling hills of Suffolk to the windswept beaches of Norfolk, from the historic city of Cambridge to the medieval grandeur of Lincoln Cathedral, there is something for everyone to enjoy in this fascinating region.

This comprehensive tour guide will provide you with all the information you need to plan your perfect trip to the eastern counties of England. We will cover the must-see places to visit, the best places to eat and stay, and the most interesting things to do in each county.

Suffolk

Suffolk is a county of rolling hills, picturesque villages, and stunning coastline. It is also home to some of England's most famous landmarks, including the medieval moated castle of Framlingham and the stately home of Ickworth House.

Places to Visit in Suffolk

- Framlingham Castle: This 12th-century castle is one of the best-preserved medieval castles in England. It is surrounded by a moat and has a fascinating history.

- Ickworth House: This Palladian mansion is one of the most impressive country houses in England. It is set in stunning parkland and is home to a collection of paintings, furniture, and other works of art.

- Sutton Hoo: This archaeological site is home to the remains of a 7th-century Anglo-Saxon ship burial. The burial is one of the richest ever found in England and contains a wealth of artifacts, including gold jewelry, weapons, and other objects.

- Lavenham: This medieval wool town is one of the best-preserved in England. It has a charming high street lined with timber-framed buildings and is home to a number of historic churches and other buildings.

- Southwold: This seaside town is known for its beautiful sandy beach, its colorful beach huts, and its traditional fish and chip shops.

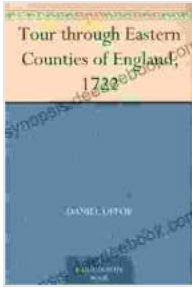

Norfolk

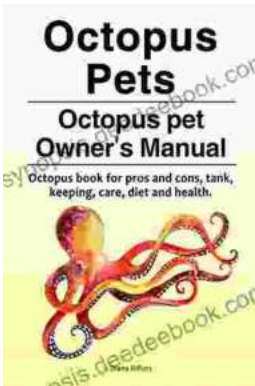

Norfolk is a county of vast open skies, windswept beaches, and historic market towns. It is also home to some of England's most famous natural attractions, including the Norfolk Broads and the Wash.
