To get to know your students, you can:

- Talk to them about their goals for learning English.
- Observe them in class to see how they learn best.
- Give them a questionnaire or survey to gather information about their interests and learning styles.

For example, a SMART learning goal for a lesson on grammar might be:

- Specific: Students will be able to identify and use the present perfect tense correctly.
- Measurable: Students will be able to complete a grammar exercise with 80% accuracy.

- Achievable: Students have the necessary knowledge and skills to achieve this goal.
- Relevant: This goal is aligned with the students' overall learning goals for the course.
- Time-bound: Students will achieve this goal by the end of the lesson.

3. Choose Engaging Activities

Once you have set clear learning goals, you can start to choose engaging activities that will help your students achieve those goals.

When choosing activities, consider your students' interests, learning styles, and the amount of time you have available.
